J. W. LESTER DIES AT PETERSBURG

Engineer Found Unconscious in Cab and Taken to Hospital.

MAIL CLERK BADLY HURT

Report Soon Expected on Tarte Case—Bank Cases to Come Up Again.

The Times-Dispatch Bureau, 105 North Sycamore Street, Petersburg, Va., September 11.

J. W. Lester, an engineer on the Norfolk and Western Railway, and for twenty-five years in the service of that company, died this morning in the Petersburg Hospital. Mr. Lester was found unconscious yesterday morning in the cab of his engine at Addison's, a short distance west of this city, and he was hurried to the hospital here. There were no evidences that he had been hurt in any way, and the supposition is that his illness and death resulted from internal troubles—probably bright's disease. Mr. Lester was a resident of Grewe, where he leaves a widow and five children. The body was sent to Grewe for burial. Mr. Lester was a member of the order of Masons, Knights of Pythias and J. O. U. A. M. He is survived by a brother and two sisters.

Two Old Citizens Dead. H. A. Taylor, a retired business man and well known citizen, died yesterday in his home on North Market Street, aged seventy-eight years. He had been in declining health for some time and had been ill for several weeks. He is survived by three daughters—Misses Virginia and Mary Taylor, and Mrs. George Bryant, all of this city—and several sons.

L. L. Deakins, formerly of Emporia, died last night at the home of his son-in-law, W. J. Croshaw, on Union Avenue, aged seventy-four years. The body was sent to Emporia for burial. Mr. Deakins was a member of Widow's Son Lodge of Masons, of Emporia. He is survived by three children—Mrs. W. F. Livesay, of Washington, D. C.; Mrs. W. J. Croshaw, of Petersburg, and R. W. Deakins, of Emporia.

Mail Clerk Badly Hurt. John D. Booker, of Richmond, a colored railway clerk in service on the Cannon Ball trains running between Richmond and Norfolk, was brought to the hospital here this morning, badly hurt, as a result of an accident which left Richmond for Norfolk at 6 o'clock this morning and which left Petersburg at 9:30. As the train was passing Disputanta, where it does not stop, he was thrown from the car by the mail-catching apparatus. The catcher was arranged to catch up the mail, it struck the pipe of the water tank and Booker was pulled out and violently thrown. He received a severe cut across the upper part of the forehead and was knocked senseless. One of his shoulders was also broken. He is under treatment at the hospital where he will probably be a patient for some time.

The Tarte Case. Commissioner J. D. Prince, who has, off and on, been taking depositions in the chancery case involving the control of the Harrison Street (colored) Baptist Church and the election of pastor and officers, will soon be able to make his report to the court. Only two or three more depositions remain to be taken. Judge Prince was directed by decree of the court in the cause to secure a correct roll of the membership of this church, and to this end he has devoted much of his time and attention, and has given both sides full latitude in making up their respective rolls. The record will be a very voluminous one. When the roll has been completed and verified a business meeting of the church will be held to enable the majority to peacefully settle all differences in accordance with the church constitution.

Personal and Otherwise. Heine Busch, manager of the Petersburg club during the season just closed, left last evening for his home in Cincinnati, accompanied by Mrs. Busch and children. Heine's management was highly satisfactory. He brought the team up from the bottom to the top. It is not known whether he will be with us next season.

Judge and Mrs. J. M. Mullen have returned to the city from their vacation. The Judge will have a very busy term of his court this month. The Appomattox Bank cases will again come up for consideration.

The executive committee of the Martin and Swanson Democratic Campaign Club, met this evening, paid off all bills and wound up the affairs of the club. The club's life was short, but very useful.

Mrs. Isabel B. Hawkins, a well-known nurse, whose home was on Appomattox Street, died yesterday at the Petersburg Hospital after an illness of four weeks. The funeral took place this morning from the Macedonia Methodist Episcopal Church, and the burial was in Chesterfield.

The Walnut Hill viaduct, at the head of Sycamore Street, which spans the valley of Lieutenant Run, has been nearly completed. The concrete road and footways have not yet been finished. The viaduct cost about $10,000.

Paul Beattie, the cousin of Henry C. Beattie, was in the city to-day in consultation with the management of the Academy of Music.

Opening of Public Schools. The public schools for colored children opened for the new session today, with an enrollment of 1,510 pupils as against 1,539 on the first day of last year's session. The enrollment makes an average of sixty-three to the room in the three schools, and it is expected that fully 200 more will come in tomorrow.

The schools for white children will open tomorrow.

The Appomattox Bank Cases. At the September term of the Hustling Court, which begins on Thursday of next week, and probably on the first day of the term, Judge Mullen will render his decision in the matter of counsel for the defendants to quash the big indictment of 225 pages and thirty-four counts against Charles Hall Davis and Carter R. Bishop, charging various larcenies of the funds of the Appomattox Bank. The motion to quash was made at the July term, on the ground of previous acquittal of the same charges. If the indictment is overthrown all prosecution of the defendants in these famous cases will doubtless promptly end.

The battalion consists of between 600 and 700 officers and enlisted men. When A. and M. played the Franklin team in Raleigh two years ago, the entire sailor battalion was warmly received by the people of Raleigh and the entire student body. The sailors provided the organized body of rooters to appear on an A. and M. athletic field in opposition to the supporters of the Red and White since the time when A. and M. and the University of North Carolina used to meet in annual athletic contests.

When the American Battleship Fleet visited the Thames last November, the London Daily Mirror sent a representative aboard the flagship with instructions to find out the cause of the splendid physical condition of the American Jack-tar.

An officer of the American flagship, upon being questioned regarding the food of the American Navy, said: "They have the best food of any navy on earth, and when they ask for more—like Oliver Twist—they have it without question."

Then the chief commissariat steward handed the newspaper man a sample breakfast bill of fare. It read:

13-YEAR OLD BOY TRIES TO END LIFE

Despondency Over Early Departure for School Assigned as Cause.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Roanoke, Va., September 11.—John E. Penn, the thirteen-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest M. Penn, is in a critical condition as the result of shooting himself last night at his home. The shooting occurred about 7:30 P. M. Young Penn had been to a park in the afternoon with other lands. He was late in arriving home for supper, but ate heartily, and his parents say his manner was not such as to attract unusual attention. Rising from the table he went to his bedroom and soon afterward a sharp report rang out, startling the household. He was found lying on the bed with a 22 rifle pressed over his heart. He was removed to a hospital, where an examination developed that the bullet had pierced both walls of the stomach and lodged deep below the heart.

It was deemed dangerous to make an attempt to probe for it in the weakened condition of the heart, and no effort was made to dislodge it. Every possible effort is being made to save the boy's life, but Dr. Lewis said today that his condition is extremely critical. Young Penn left a note saying the shooting was not accidental, but no reason for the act has been ascertained. It was learned to-day that he was to leave in a few days for Philadelphia to attend school this winter, and it is rumored that he was despondent over his impending departure, and that this caused him to make the attempt at self-destruction.

Later in the day while a detail of officers was searching the back section of the city, a negro named James Hill was thought to be one of the convicts. An officer yelled at him to halt, and as the frightened negro ran he was fired on. The negro was seriously wounded, and is now in a hospital.
